The British are coming Concordes draw crowds at debut

By SUE McDONALD
ANP Editor

In the 1960s, Detroit was in love with the 747. Roadways along Detroit Metropolitan Airport were lined with cars as people paused to watch the lumbering jumbo jet touch down.

Last Friday that love affair came to an abrupt end, with an estimated 10,000 to 20,000 people occupying every available parking space in and around the airport to await the arrival of two Concorde jets from New York.

The supersonic jets made their maiden flights to Detroit as part of an "ultimate trip" offered to members of the Nomads travel club. While club members enjoyed a champagne reception at their private terminal and a chauffeured limousine trip to the airport's International Terminal, crowds lined up along the northern boundary of Metro to see the jets' arrival.

People started arriving at the airport the night before, many camping out to get the best seats in the house for the Concorde's touch down, with a majority of the crowd pouring in around 9 a.m.

Airport officials had anticipated a crowd of about 10,000 for the debut, but by the time the first Concorde touched down at 10:15 a.m. the gathering had swelled to close to 12,000. Even cars traveling the I-275 and I-94 freeways near the airport halted to watch the jets land.

The Wayne County Road Commission erected 3,000 feet of snow fence along the northern edge of the airport's runway to provide for parking and viewing of the Concordes, and last week had erected no parking signs along the shoulder of Goddard Road and a parallel service drive for crowd control. The signs were ignored for the most part with cars parked two, sometimes three, deep along the roads.

Many of those who crowded along the fencing on the northern edge of the runway came armed with binoculars, cameras and telescopes, even video cameras. Some brought picnic coolers and blankets, while one hardy group brought a folding table and chairs and played euchre while waiting for the supersonic jets' arrival.

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department provided security at the airport in anticipation of protests by environmentalists against the Concorde's visit, but none materialized. Its Mounted Division patrolled the temporary fencing, their horses apparently unaffected by the roar of the jets that arrived and departed just a short distance from them. They also kept members of the media, positioned on the field across from the terminal, and the general public informed on the airplane's approach.

The first Concorde arrived at Metro at 10:15 a.m., a half hour late due to delays at New York's Kennedy International Airport, and a hushed crowd peered nervously into the mid-morning haze for their first glimpse of the world's fastest airplane.

The Concorde was scheduled to fly low over the runway before touching down, but those plans were changed because of the delay and problems with one of its engines. It materialized quickly at the edge of the runway and appeared to float down to the tarmac, its long needle nose slowly moving up to create a smooth line with the sleek-bodied jet.

The second Concorde arrived 15 minutes later and flew just a few hundred feet above the runway before curving around in its final approach. The sight drew cheers and applause from the crowds, many of whom waited another hour or more to see the jets take off on their transatlantic trip to London, England.

The "ultimate trip" for the Nomads included the Concorde flight to London, four days and three nights there plus the return trip aboard the grand dame of ocean travel, the Queen Elizabeth II. A steep price tag was attached, ranging from a low of more than $2,400 to as high as $3,570, depending on accommodations aboard the QEII.

That price apparently didn't deter too many members of the club, since five Concorde flights to Detroit were scheduled, two last Friday, two more last Saturday and one on Sept. 9.

The Concorde, which is able to travel at Mach II, twice the speed of sound, and cruise at at 55,000 to 60,000 feet although its cabin pressure makes it feel like 5,000 feet, made the trip between New York at subsonic speeds to avoid shattering the sound barrier over land. It came close to supersonic speeds—Mach .98—during the trip.

The hoopla surrounding the Concorde's arrival did not

The curious came from far and near to catch a glimpse of the world's fastest airplane, the Concorde, which made its maiden voyage to Detroit last Friday. Two Concordes flew into Detroit Metropolitan Airport Friday morning, the first two of five flights scheduled to accommodate and "ultimate trip" offered to members of the Nomads travel club. While ANP Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko was sampling the luxuriousness of the Concorde up close and personal (top photo), Photographer Guy Warren was capturing the mood of the crowd (bottom photo) of more than 10,000 that lined the airport.

come without expense. One County Road Commission employee estimated that close to $50,000 would be spent for overtime and the work done to handle crowds for the Concorde's arrival. County officials are not saying, though.

Road patrol aids Romulus police

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus will find its police department supplemented at least once a week now that the Wayne County Sheriff's Department has begun patrol of city roads.

The arrangement, brought about at the request of the city and through a grant from the State of Michigan, will provide supplementary county road patrols from the sheriff's department, according to both Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano and Mayor Beverly McAnally.

Engaged only in secondary road service, the patrols will issue traffic tickets on local roads on a rotational basis. The patrols are currently providing secondary services to Sumpter, Hamtramck, Garden City and other communities.

Romulus formerly had a contract with the Wayne County road patrol before the birth of its own police department.

Dispelling rumors that the invitation to patrol roads was part of a design to eliminate the Romulus Police Department, McAnally said that she thought it would "help the current situation" in the department brought on by the departure of eight officers to other localities.

"I thought we could use all the help we could get," she reassured.

McAnally said interviews are now being conducted to recoup the loss of the eight officers.

"We're finally getting something for our money," she said. "We're paying the county for it, for goodness sakes."

Wayne County currently levies 7 mills for the sheriff's department and up to this time, according to the mayor, the city received very little in return.

Wayne County, as a result of the grant, will receive $1 million per year to deliver the services, free of charge, to different localities.

"We are not here to replace, but to supplement," Ficano said recently. "It's a part of their county tax dollars and the communities should avail themselves of the patrols."

Specifically, under Public Act 416, the road patrol will patrol and monitor traffic laws, enforce criminal laws, investigate accidents involving motor vehicles and provide emergency assistance.

McAnally said the patrols would not enter into subdivisions and would only survey secondary roads.

Drug crackdown nets one arrest

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

Police last week arrested a Romulus resident on charges of drug possession in part of what they said is an ongoing crackdown of narcotic operators in the city.

Darryl Lewis, 23, of 36216 Beverly Road, faces a preliminary examination today (Wednesday) in 34th District Court in Romulus on two counts of cocaine possession with intent to deliver.

Lewis was arraigned August 20 and released on $20,000 personal bond after his arrest Monday, August 19 by Romulus police officers, according to police reports.

Officer Wedesky, who stopped Lewis while Lewis was driving, discovered a packet of what appeared to be cocaine in a routine search.

An analysis made later by the Michigan State Police Northville Crime Lab confirmed that the substance was cocaine, police said.

A search warrant for the suspect's house was obtained and Officer Michael Ondejko discovered additional quantities of drugs and drug paraphernalia in a brown luggage bag, reports indicated.

Also confiscated was $1,111 and three ziplock baggies filled with what was later confirmed as cocaine.

Lewis' arrest is one of several in a series of crackdowns of drug trafficking initiated by Romulus police since May.

Police believe more arrests are forthcoming, they said.

In another investigation, Officers Cozzaglio and Kaplanski were called to the scene of what fire officials are labeling an arson at a home on 11241 Middlebelt.

Police and firefighters found evidence of ransacking in a bedroom of the home, according to reports.

Fire Chief Haislip believes the fire may have started in the northeast corner of the living room.

Resident of the home, Jerome J. Drysdale reported that he was at work when he was called home by his mother who informed him that his house was on fire, police reports indicated.

No one was home at the time and police reported no injuries. An investigation is ongoing.

Post office opens . . . finally

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

City officials announced recently that the long-awaited opening of the new post office is no longer just a faint hope.

The grand opening is scheduled for 11 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 3 at the site of the new building on the corner of Goddard and Hunt roads.

Officials expressed concern in the past over the slow progress in construction, scheduled for completion November 1984, and made repeated attempts to verify that the building, named after the late Carl Morris, a local community leader, would indeed be finished.

According to Chinyere Neale, public affairs officer for the U.S. Postal Service, the building is "near completion" at this date and is expected to be ready for the public by the grand opening.

Admitting that postal officials had been somewhat "dissatisfied" with landowner and constructor Joseph Leo, who apparently handles many of the postal services projects, Neale said that there was a "problem with what we envisioned and with what was actually happening."

"I guess that happens often on new construction and I'm not all that sure the problems were that unusual."

Leo was unavailable for comment on the overdue completion date.

The new facility will replace the old, currently in use post office on Shook Road. That facility has been in existence since 1956.

Carrier operations (delivery service) ended in 1976 out of the office on Shook Road.

According to Neale, there will be no mail sorting done in the new building. Carrier operations will continue out of Taylor for the Romulus area.

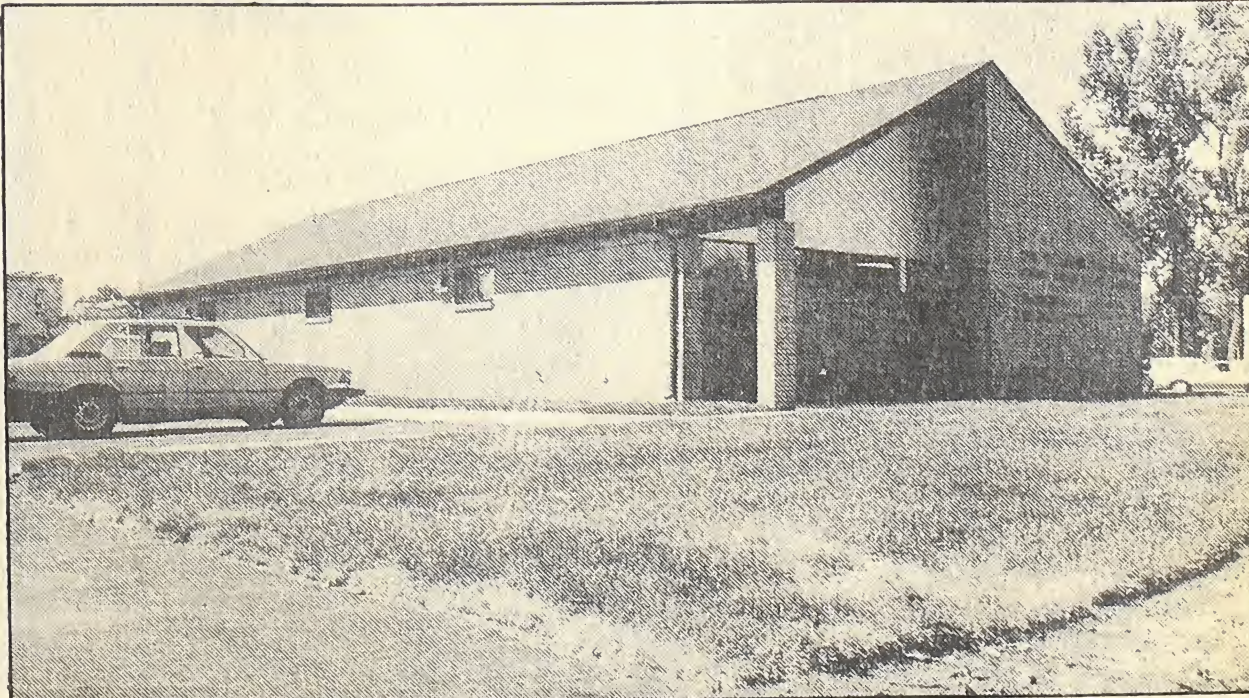

The facility will be a finance station, providing only a "front" or window service to patrons.

Similar to what is available in retail outlets, the new post office will provide letter service, stamp purchase, weighing scales and 800 post office boxes.

The building, 2907 square feet in size, is equipped with 25 customer parking spaces and three windows for customer service.

Three on-duty clerks will provide service, Neale said.

dan's dogs

by dan a morris

Editor's note: Dan Morris has been a professional dog trainer for more than 20 years and has worked in all phases of dog training. If you have a specific problem, his advice is available by writing to him care of Associated Newspapers Inc., P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Michigan 48184. He will reply in this column.

When you're choosing your new puppy, you should have some idea of your preference in breeds.

Each of the various breeds has certain good qualities as well as undesirable traits and you should become informed enough to settle on a specific breed before leaving home, wallet in hand. (Don't forget, there's absolutely no reason a mixed breed pup would not be just as perfect a pet.)

Let's discuss just a few breeds.

Doberman's whine! There's no getting around it and no correcting it unless the owner can ignore the whining before being driven crazy. That's the bad quality. The good part about these dogs is that once their ears are cropped, doxies require little grooming, and even less bathing than their longer-haired counterparts. Doberman's are high-strung, intelligent and very energetic. Obedience training is a must for this affectionate and kind animal. A descriptive slogan for doxies could be, "Touch me, touch me!"

Lhasa Apsos, Shih Tzus, Poodles, Bishon Frises and other long-haired dogs require grooming a minimum of every six weeks. They need to be brushed several times weekly to prevent matting of the hair and they tend to develop frequent ear infections due to the hair growth in the ear canal.

Obviously, small dogs have the advantage of looking cute for the duration of their lives, giving the impression they are perpetual puppies to be cuddled and pampered. Their eyes could melt the hardest heart and their slogan might be, "Pamper me, I deserve it!" I know a woman who certainly believes this. She bought $44 worth of dog toys only because her Shih-tzu had to endure a grooming one morning.

Alaskan Malamutes, Siberian Huskys, Akitas and Samoyeds keep their beautiful coats looking good. They easily withstand inclement weather - not that they should ever be left outside - but they do enjoy a romp in the snow.

These breeds tend to be stubborn and seem born already set in their ways, but are loyal, intelligent and an asset to any household.

Let's face it, the breed we choose becomes the "only" dog to own. How fortunate for the hundreds of purebred dogs and mixed breeds! There's a person out there for all of them! Buy one!!!

Save a life

At a time when the area blood supply is alarming low, the American Red Cross urges you to be a life-saver by donating blood on Save-A-Life Saturday, Aug. 31. All area donor centers, except Ann Arbor, will be open Saturday from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m.

As fall quickly approaches, many people are planning their last summer-time vacations for the Labor Day weekend. Because summer months are traditionally slow periods for donating, the lack of potential donors causes an additional shortage in the supply of blood. Also, with the high accident rate during holidays, more blood than usual is needed at this time.

On Labor Day, Sept. 2, the Livonia, Roseville, Southgate and Ann Arbor centers will be open from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. for those who wish to donate.

Anyone can give blood if they are in good general health and between the ages of 17 and 65 years of age and weigh a minimum of 110 pounds. Donating blood is relatively painless, takes less than an hour, and one donation can help as many as four patients.

Help the Red Cross "Save-A-Life" on Saturday, Aug. 31, or Monday, Sept. 2. Give the gift of life and feel good about it. Call 494-2800 for an appointment.

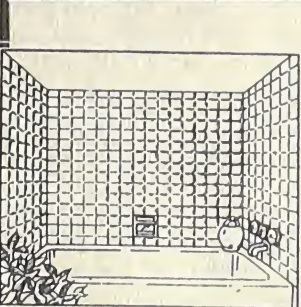

Whitehill gets aid

James Whitehill, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. James Whitehill, Sr. of Romulus, has won a Trustee Scholarship from Hillsdale College in Michigan, where he will enroll as a freshman in the fall. He is a graduate of Romulus High School.

The Trustee Scholarship, which pays one quarter tuition, is one of the major academic awards bestowed by Hillsdale College. Part of Hillsdale's comprehensive scholarship program, the Trustee Scholarship is awarded without regard to financial need to outstanding high school seniors. Trustee Scholarship recipients successfully complete a rigorous application process and the finalists represent the ideals to which Hillsdale hopes all its students will aspire.

Up, up and away for the ride of a lifetime aboard the Concorde, British Airways supersonic jet. Lothar (Konietzko) and I accepted the offer extended to members of the media to ride the Concorde on its maiden voyage to Detroit from New York.

The only catch was if we could get to New York's JFK Airport by 7:15 a.m. last Friday.

Excited to go??? I think I would have walked, if I had to to get there.

Getting there was easy. We caught the last flight out of Metro for New York, arriving in Newark late and just missing the bus to the Port Authority Terminal. After a 45-minute wait, we managed to catch the last bus, which left quite a few passengers stranded. Airport limousine service had closed for the night, as well as most everything else in the Port Authority Terminal. At least we were in the right state and 20 miles closer.

Lady Luck really smiled on us when we found a taxi driver named James who agreed to drive us there for $25.

Arriving at the British Airways terminal we had a peek at the Concorde, while it was parked on the ground. The needle nose and tiny windows, as well as unusual wingspan, reinforced the image of a prehistoric bird that I'd been reminded of while watching the Concorde on television.

Deborah Bernstein, the BA public affairs executive, met us a couple of hours later, after we received our tickets. Tea and crumpets were served while we met each other and received press packets. Coffee was available, but this was British territory and I was ready to experience every British tradition.

Boarding the plane, we were greeted by Bob Godfrey, cabin service director, in his smart navy blue uniform. There were five gracious female cabin attendants wearing white shirtwaist-style dresses with a red and navy blue design. Bernstein explained that the interior had just been redesigned to offer more leg room. Pear gray was the dominant color, with the seats, two abreast along the aisle, in the most luxurious and supple pearl gray leather imaginable. The gray carpeting featured red trim and was specially woven to cope with the fact that the plane actually stretches 10 inches when it is highballing

The top speed, Mach II, or twice as fast as the speed of sound, is reached at 1,350 miles per hour. Because of rules and regulations governing the speed limits in our country, just like on the ground, the Concorde would only be flying under the speed of sound.

At 9 a.m. as the plane started to taxi you could slightly smell the fumes through the ventilation system and at 9:07 you were strongly pulled back into your seat as the plane began to accelerate. Climbing at a 45-degree angle, we reached 100 miles per hour within 5 seconds. There was a slight thump as the landing gear was retracted, and you could tell when the afterburners were cut off, because it felt like changing gears in a car.

Steaming hot towels were presented on a silver tray and Godfrey covered each individual table with a small linen tablecloth. Moet and Chandon champagne was served (Lothar loved that) followed by what was termed a snack or light lunch.

Bernstein explained that Godfrey and two of our stewardesses had been along two weeks earlier, when the English Queen Mother Elizabeth was invited to celebrate her birthday with a trip on the Concorde by Lord King. She brought along two of her grandchildren, Lady Sarah and Viscount Lynley, as well as a group of friends for a 2-hour flight over the British Isles. Their service couldn't have been any better than what we received!

Each tray contained a carnation, six pieces of silverware and an assortment of Wedgwood china, edged with gold and featuring the crest of British Airlines. The food on each dish was exquisitely arranged and included a fresh fruit appetizer, Scotch eggs (hard-boiled eggs, rolled in fine sausage, and baked), roast beef, white meat of poultry, bibb lettuce, cucumber, tomato and baby ears of corn salad, multi-grain roll and tiny butter rolls.

Champagne was served throughout the trip and each of us was invited to visit the cockpit where Captain John Cooke Sr., First Officer Jack Lowe and Flight Engineer William Dobbs were doing their business...keeping us aloft.

The entire right wall of the cockpit in front of the flight officer was covered with a bewildering display of knobs, dials, buttons and computer read-outs. I noticed that we were flying at .98, which was just under the speed of sound. He explained that breaking the sound barrier and causing a sonic boom isn't really that noticeable from inside the plane and I'm sorry we couldn't do it.

All too soon our descent began and what a shock it was to look out the windows, which are only 4 by 6 inches, and see that traffic was even stopped on the expressways as everyone waited to see the Concorde come in for her inaugural landing. The windows are doublepaned, with several inches between each pane, because the friction is so strong while flying at Mach II that you can actually feel the heat on the glass.

The Concorde, the world's fastest jet, made its maiden voyage to Detroit last Friday with a very special passenger list, members of the news media, including ANP Chief Photographer Lothar E. Konietzko and columnist Sharon Popek. Piloting the supersonic jet was Captain John Cooke Sr., First Officer Jack Lowe and Flight Engineer William Dobbs (top photo). On its arrival in Detroit, the Concorde was greeted by a Michigan-style London Bobby and Beef Eater guard.

Book purchase hailed excellent

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

In a move that promulgated Romulus High School into the status of having one of the more extensive libraries in the state, the school district last month purchased and transferred Livonia's Bentley High book collection.

The transfer of books took place earlier this month and the high school library staff is preparing the volumes for use this school year.

The acquisition, initiated by the closing this year of Bentley High School, is considered an important step for the Romulus School District.

"We're extremely pleased," Superintendent William Bedell said. "We're picking up one of the finest libraries in the state—I'm sure we're going to have the best collections in the area."

Bidding for the collection, composed of reference, shelf and paperback book material, began in July.

Originally bid at $87,000 for the $345,000 collection, the district's bid increased to $150,000 when Livonia officials notified Bedell that the bid was out of line with other bids.

Allowed to rebid July 8, the school district was able to agree on a plan for payment covering three years at six percent interest.

The plan includes payments over three years at $50,000 each year, according to Bedell.

The library collection consists of 24,000 volumes of which 3,000 are popular paperbacks.

Each book is 'zebra-coded' accordingly with Bentley's security system.

Livonia schools, noted for a strong library collection, have four libraries all of which are "good," according to Clare

Howell, coordinator of instrumental materials services in Livonia.

Their libraries, well-staffed and maintained, undergo an extensive selection process before purchasing takes place.

All material is evaluated before it is purchased, Howell said, to insure the district gets "the best we can for our dollars—I don't know of any other district that has as comprehensive a selection procedure as we do."

As a result of having acquired an already comprehensive collection in the district's other libraries, Livonia chose not to incorporate Bentley's library.

Considered one of the best in the state, the purchase of Bentley's collection will reinforce Bedell's goal of upgrading Romulus school libraries.

"When I first got here I was appalled," Bedell said. "What we're doing instantly is moving Romulus forward."

Those books currently housed in Romulus High School—approximately 5,000 volumes—will be transferred to other schools in the district, Bedell said, to supplement their collections.

It will be a refreshing change for a district plagued with chronic financial shortages that often necessitated cut backs in library expenditures.

"Now, for a relatively modest expenditure, we're getting one of the best collections," Bedell said.

In addition to receiving the books, the school district will receive Bentley's comprehensive security system printed in the books, for which Romulus need only install the 'gates' for detection of book theft.

Howell said that within two years, the security system at Bentley paid for itself in the numbers of books not stolen as a result of security installation.

It is an option, along with centralized cataloging by computers, that the Romulus district can consider for the future.

Bidders for the collection had the option of purchasing Bentley's security system.

So far, Romulus has bought only the books.

According to figures released by the superintendent's office, the average cost of a hardcover book is $16. The cost of paperback averages $3 per book.

The purchase of the Bentley collection meant the district paid substantially less than average cost.

The acquisition will, according to the Romulus High School principal, help meet "... the needs of students, staff and the requirements for the University of Michigan and North Central Accreditation standards."

Council to negotiate ball park lease

The city council has given the go-ahead to the mayor to negotiate a lease agreement with Wayne County for the use of a parcel of land located at Wayne and Eureka roads for the purpose of establishing a Little League ball field.

If an agreement is worked out for lease of the land, the city will designate 10 to 12 acres as a ballpark for the Romulus South Little League.

The league will use the land to build four baseball diamonds to accommodate players from eight to 18 years-of-age and to erect a building to house equipment, according to Brenda Stewart, secretary of the league.

Sand and topsoil removal postponed

Approval for the East River Contracting Company's application for sand and topsoil removal on 50 acres of land at Hannan and Barth roads has been postponed until company officials can satisfy resident's questions, council members decided Monday night.

A public hearing for the company Monday night prior to the regularly scheduled council meeting brought out angry residents who expressed their opposition to the proposal to remove of topsoil that would result in an enormous hole.

Also discussed was the increased truck traffic in an area designated for residential development.

Adult ed plans open house

Huron Adult Education has scheduled an open house for adults interested in completing their high school education 7 p.m. Sept. 4 at Huron High School in New Boston.

Examples of class projects, building tours, class scheduling and registration will be available.

Huron will begin regular Fall adult registration Sept. 3 from 4 p.m. through 9 p.m. Classes begin Sept. 9.

Post office opens

The post office will be leased from Leo by the U.S. Post Office, a procedure typical to modern-day operations, Neale explained.

"There will be provided more modern, integrated terminals and updated equipment," she said. "It will also be new, bright and clean."

Carl Morris was a long-time leader who donated his time to the city and Romulus' educational system. Naming the building after Morris came at the request of Congressman William Ford, who urged state and federal authorities to approve the selection.

Dennis Davidson, community relations director for the city, said that officials there are pleased that construction has ended.

Grand opening ceremonies are opened to the public.

wants to help you quit smoking. Fresh Start is a straightforward, no-nonsense quit smoking program. It consists of four 1-hour sessions held during a 2-week period. About 12-15 persons form each quit smoking group and are led by a trained ex-smoker through the four sessions. The program doesn't contain any non-essential elements. There are no gimmicks, meaningless activities or busywork. The methods and activities have been tested and represent the most effective ingredients for success.

The free Stop Smoking Program will be held at the Romulus High School. The four sessions will run from 7 to 8 p.m. on Oct. 8, 10, 15 and 17. You may pre-register by calling the Romulus Adult Education Department at 941-0610.

Clubs or organizations interested in the Fresh Start Program for a presentation on smoking should contact the American Cancer Society 425-6830.

COOK BOOK . . . The Romulus Parents Area Council is still hard at work putting their cook book together. Many recipes were received and categorized. More are needed. Send your favorite recipe to RPAC c/o Romulus Community Schools, 36540 Grant, Romulus, Michigan 48174.

ARTS AND CRAFTS FAIR FARMERS MARKET . . . from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sept. 14 at the Romulus City Hall. There are currently 27 crafters lined up to display and sell their wares at the fair. Last year's fair was a tremendous success. This year should be even better. There will be food and refreshments available. If you do an art or craft and are interested in participating in the fair, contact Gloria Chandler at 941-2678. We are looking forward to seeing you there. Just one of many Sesquicentennial Events. This one is sponsored by the Romulus Arts Council.

HOW ABOUT THAT CONCORD? . . . I'll bet it caused the worst traffic jam in the history of the City of Romulus.

To protect and to serve

The investigation and subsequent arrest August 16 of Romulus Police Officer James Khoury for the June 27 fatal shooting of James Hester touches upon a sensitive issue.

Brought to light once again is the issue of police accountability when administering deadly force in the line of duty.

We've seen it happen before. An officer responds to a critical situation in a manner that causes public outcry, as in the case of Khoury, and is subject to intense, lengthy scrutiny in the aftermath of his action.

Most recent is the high-speed chase that led to the death by two Detroit police officers of two young women who happened to be in the path of the officers' pursuit of a reckless motorcyclist.

Brought to mind as well is the case of Gregory Tabaczynski, a former Dearborn police officer who was arrested and found guilty three years ago of negligent manslaughter in the death of a young man allegedly caught stealing hubcaps.

Both instances brought together a bizarre set of circumstances that can only leave us wondering and never really certain about what goes through the minds of officers trained to react to criminal acts while still protecting themselves.

The investigation that follows any homicide, whether justifiable or unjustifiable, has to be a tortuous one at the very least for an officer whose actions are in question.

After all, there is something inconsistent in the idea that those who will render a decision about the officer's fate will spend many hours deliberating when the officer, whose very livelihood hangs in balance, had only seconds to respond to a threatening situation.

According to Dr. Robert Trojanowicz, head of the criminal justice department at Michigan State University, law enforcement officers are increasingly being placed in "no win" situations where they are expected to use appropriate force not more than necessary to subdue an assailant.

Any officer will testify that the boundary between what is necessary and what actually transpires can be altered in a split second and how he or she reacts can depend upon a multitude of factors.

What is needed is not more thorough investigations into the police shootings.

Rather, more comprehensive guidelines upon which any officer can rely when making decisions to use deadly force and a more sympathetic public that can adjust to the idea that depending so heavily upon law enforcement officers comes with a price, in the Khoury case, the death of someone involved in a fight.

It might be easy to sit back now and determine that Officer Khoury was under no threat of death when administering deadly force.

Officer Khoury told investigators that he did indeed feel threatened by Hester and that all indications pointed to Hester using a knife grasped in his hand.

Where should officers draw the line? Trojanowicz said that it is impossible to prepare for such split second decisions, that officers can either decline to use deadly force and risk the loss or injury of an innocent bystander or they can deal a deadly blow and face persecution by both the public and prosecutors.

In either case, "he's damned if he does, damned if he doesn't." It appears that this arrangement leaves a lot to be desired.

No officer should have to determine whether his actions will lead to a lawsuit or a warrant when correctly performing his duty.

Investigations, providing more in-depth analysis of a situation, should be handled as vehicles for discovering better methods of controlling a suspect, not for the purpose of arrest.

We are not suggesting that officers be given free rein to do as they might nor do we suggest that they are above reproach.

We are simply saying that another method has to be devised, either through the courts or through legislation, that will prevent an officer from being criminally accountable every time he uses his weapon.

The delicate balance between what is within the legal parameters of an officer's duty and when any action borders on unjustifiable reaction is a precarious one at best.

Officer Khoury fell between the legal loopholes in the system, only the courts can determine now what his fate will be.

Tutu, Falwell and Alfie

Of late, the media has been filled with news of the violence in South Africa.

Reverend Desmond Tutu and Reverend Jerry Falwell have been prominent in these reports . . . Tutu espousing his perception of the views of the South Africans and Falwell suggesting that Tutu does not represent the views of the blacks of that country.

The old movie theme "What's it all about, Alfie?" came to mind as I read of more breaking news developments in South Africa the other day.

Most of us have never visited this pulsing country on the southern tip of the African continent. Most caring people read of rioting and death counts with emotions ranging from sorrow to anger. What seems clear is that the white-controlled government has dealt firmly, if not harshly, with those who defy the laws.

In this day, for any government to advocate separation of the races through apartheid seems to us unjust and unacceptable. Apartheid rings of a double-standard that says "all men are not created equal."

What the government of this mineral-rich land would obviously prefer to do is preserve the status-quo. Bishop Tutu and many others are intent on change. Americans are divided into those who press for negative economic sanctions against the government of South Africa and others who choose to continue dealing with companies operating there.

Others recognize the strategic importance of this African country to our economy and in the balance of world power. Precious stones, minerals, gold and diamonds are but a part of the importance of South Africa to us, and to our enemies.

Speaking with some friends recently who had lived in South Africa for two years provided some different insights into the problems there. They suggested that the killing is actually taking place between blacks. What many in this country have perceived as the obvious answer would only trigger more carnage. I'm reminded of our confidence in our solution in the "clean up" of southeast Asia. Ultimately, we precipitated the slaughter of our own men, and in the end abandoned our friends and left them to be massacred in one of history's most hideous and grotesque annihilations of men, women and children.

History tells us that the South African region was not inhabited prior to being claimed by white Dutch settlers. Blacks came to this land for employment that would not have been there, save for the settlements of the Dutch. What resulted is an economic power that deserves respect and is a force to be reckoned with.

In this war of wills in South Africa that today all find disturbing, such public figures as Tutu, Falwell, Jesse Jackson, Coleman Young and so many more are quick to tell us what we should think and do.

Frankly, I resent being deluged with information that still doesn't seem to tell me "what it's all about." What I do know is that we would be wise to be careful of what we wish for . . . we should not blindly support radical positions espoused by public figures without considering all sides of the issue.

We should recognize the impact on our economy and the damage to the people we like to think we wish to help by an American economic boycott. We should also give thought to the world chess game that is being played by east and west and the role that South Africa does and could play.

Not all in the world want or are ready for values and a way of life that we enjoy, no matter how badly we want it for them. I'm sometimes reminded of James Mitchner's missionary zeal for saving the natives in "Hawaii."

What I suggest is that few of us know what its all about, but it is time we find out and do what we can to protect ourselves and still advocate a better life for those ready and able to deal with it.

See you next week.

Poem says thanks

To the Editor:

As our season winds down, the Canton Merchant Senior Citizen Softball Team would like to thank the sponsors who supported us. The following is a poem written by 1st baseman Wallace Baker in their honor . .

Miesel/Sysco can meet all your food needs
Wechsler, Wechsler & Turnbull will draw your will and deeds
Rusty Bail Lounge is our friendly bar
Rex Umney's Auto Repair will fix your car
Wayne Bank is our local bank
Human Synergistics you might call a think tank
Superbowl, Incorporated, house of strikes and spares
Mayflower Hotel, home of good food and care
Tempco Heating and Cooling, as seasons dictate, they keep you warm or cool
Canton Power Equipment - for your lawn and garden they have the proper tool
Willow Creek Dental Clinic - teeth they pull and cavities they fill

Livorno Engineering - automation could be the answer for your mill
Canton Police patrol our streets and protect us from harm
Canton Firefighters Local 2889 - fires they extinguish in home and farm, Canton Lions Club - glasses and leader dogs - a true service organization
Canton Recreation Department offers facilities, leadership and transportation
We, somewhat old in age, but very young in heart
Next year will do our best to tear the opposition apart
Now that our seasons fun is done
Many thanks to each and every one
Thank you,

Roe offers forgiveness, thanks

To the Editor:

It really did not concern me that my name came out "Rome" in the church article. My friends had fun kidding me about it and for those who do not know me, it did not matter anyway. So - no harm done!

However, it is my fault that I did not mention during our talk the most important people in our long-range building dreams and plans: our minister for 15 years, Rev. Charles Jacobs who retired in June 1984, Rev. Dan Wallace who succeeded him, and Dave Dillingham, chairman of the Building Committee for all but two years of its long existence. These are the men responsible for keeping the dream alive and eventually forging the dreams into reality.

Thanks for your article - it was appreciated!

Coverage lauded

To the editor:

On behalf of the Washtenaw United Way and the United Way Person-to-Person committees at Ford Motor Company-Ypsilanti Plant and General Motors Warehousing Distribution Division (U.A.W. Local #157 and U.A.W. Local #849), we would like to extend our deepest appreciation for your assistance which was instrumental in making the Ford-G.M. benefit softball game a success. Your coverage of the game was very much appreciated.

The event raised $5,000 for the S.O.S. Community Crisis Center and Boys & Girls Club of Ypsilanti. S.O.S. Crisis Center's proceeds will be going toward a complete video tape-recording system. The video system will enable them to have a more cost-effective and efficient training for their large numbers of volunteers. Without this event, S.O.S. Crisis Center would not have been able to acquire this much needed equipment. Boys and Girls Club will use the proceeds for an important building renovation project that they would not have been able to afford otherwise.

Thank you for your interest and support.

Animal house . . .

By ROSE MARY REIZ
ANP Staff Writer

In what many interpreted as a good omen, the sun broke out of the clouds to shine on animal welfare leaders and local celebrities who gathered this month for the dedication of a new Michigan Humane Society animal hospital in Westland.

"This charitable facility stands as a beacon for those who have become discouraged," Dr. John Hoyt, president of the Humane Society of the United States, said during a keynote address.

"The construction of this hospital signifies that the animal welfare movement has indeed come of age, and that we are capable of competing with the brightest and the best."

The completed hospital, located at the site of the present MHS shelter at 37255 Marquette, represents the first of a two-phase project that will include a 23,000-square-foot center.

Scheduled for completion next year, the $1.9 million state of the arts shelter and veterinary hospital will double MHS operations in Western Wayne County.

The MHS now operates three full-service shelters which receive owner-surrendered animals, offer adoption and animal rescue services and operate veterinary medical clinics.

The local Society has also acquired a reputation of influential leadership in the animal rights movement. The MHS investigated 5,000 cases of animal cruelty last year and has published what many consider one of the most definitive handbooks on anti-cruelty laws in existence.

"We are today witnessing the emergence of a new philosophy regarding animal rights," Hoyt said. "This charitable hospital is a microcosm of what is taking place in the larger sphere in animal rights across the country."

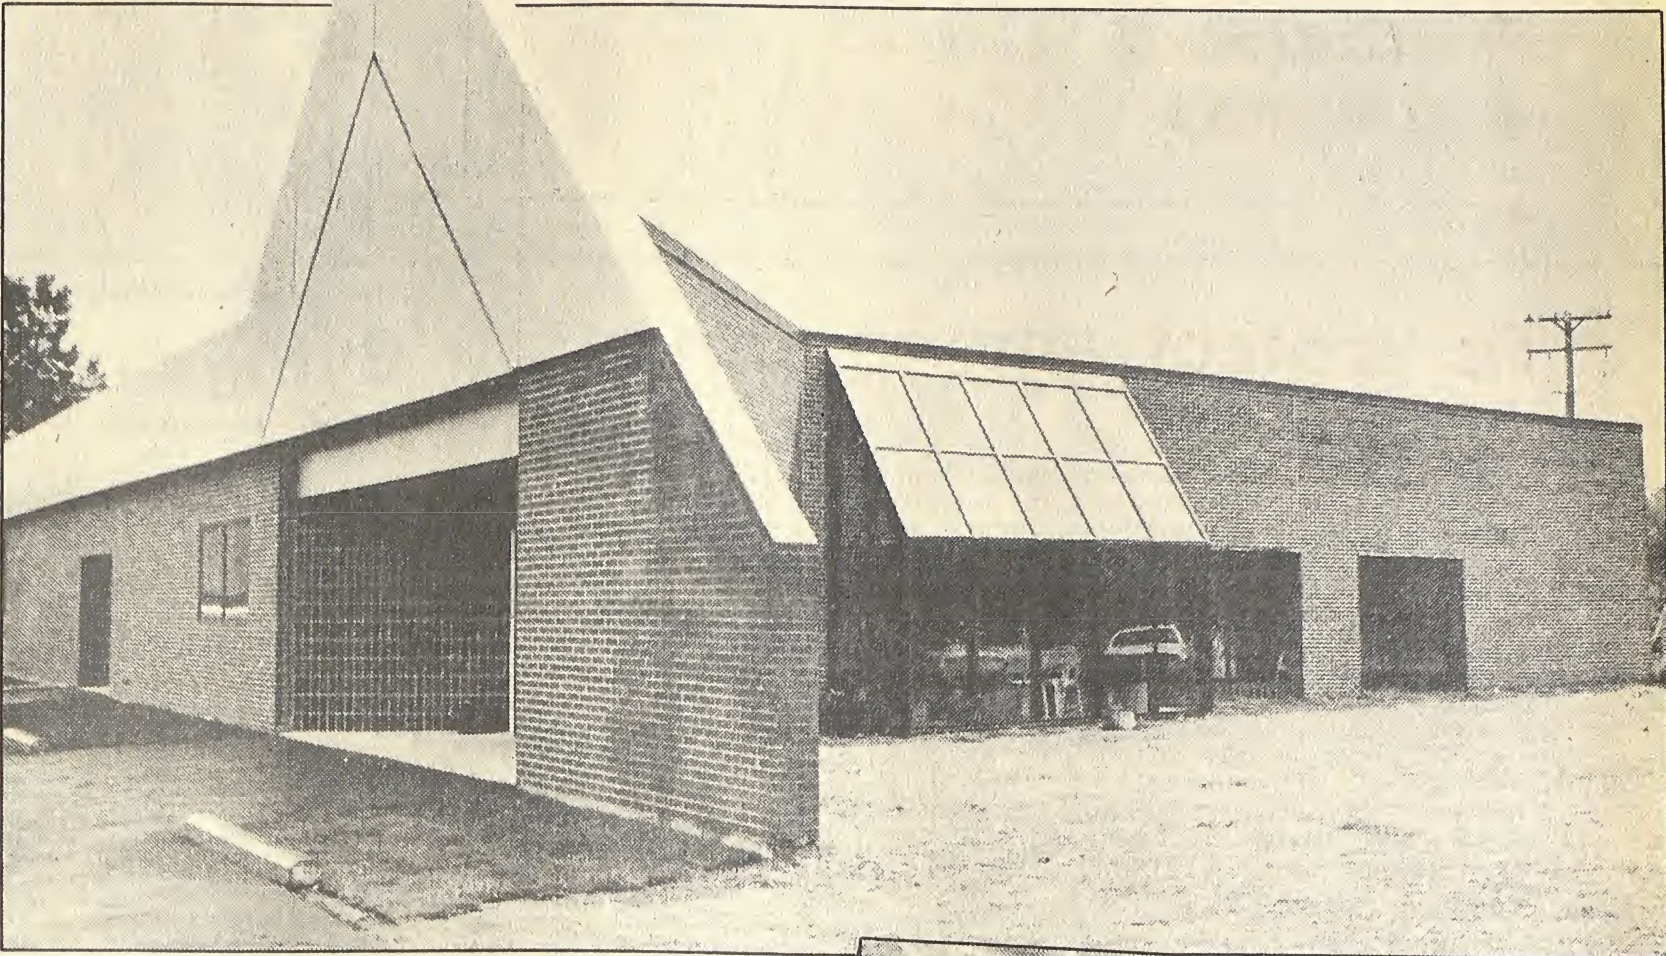

"Most veterinarians are dedicated to serving the needs and desires of animal owners, rather than the animal themselves," the president added. "But this charitable hospital will dedicate itself to eradicating animal suffering regardless of an owner's social or economic status."

The hospital will accept patients beginning next month.

Funding for the project comes from trust funds, fund raising efforts and contributions from the non-profit society's more than 23,000 members and donors.

Current services at the Westland shelter will continue during construction of the new facility. The present center, built in 1971, will be leveled and paved for a parking lot once the new center is complete.

Post family celebrates 50 years of getting together

The year was 1935, when the children of Carry and Mary Post decided to gather for a family reunion. The place was Jackson, Michigan, where the family members gathered at Thanksgiving to catch up on family happenings and take in a little hunting.

On hand for that gathering were Geneva Cook, Tolice Clifton, Mae Courtney, Bryan Post, Charles Post, Mary Sanders, Bessie Julien, Elizabeth Sanders, Eva Blackmore, Florence Post and Lawrence Post.

The tradition continued the next year with the family gathering at Dynamite Park in Wayne.

Fifty years later, the Post family is still gathering for reunions, although there is no hunting involved and the site is now Attwood Park in Wayne.

Mrs. Post moved her family to the City of Wayne in 1927, following her husband's death, and raised her brood in in her home at Brush and Second Street. It was a change of life for the family, which had lived and worked on the family farm in Latta Township, Ohio, prior to the move north.

While the first reunion attracted all of the brothers and sisters, their spouses and children, this year's 50th annual gathering attracted more than 200 relatives, including nine of the surviving children, who came from as close as the City of Wayne to as far away as Florida and Indiana.

The youngster present was 1 1/2-week-old Brittany Bower of Westland, while the oldest was Uncle Bryan, age 89.

The reunion has been held in a lot of places since it first started 50 years ago. When Dynamite Park became unusable, it was moved to the Lower Huron Metropark and latter to South Lyons. Five years ago it was moved back to the City of Wayne and Attwood Park with the help of the Wayne Parks and Recreation Department, according to Joanne Simonds of Wayne, a relative by marriage who coordinated publicity for the 50th-year gathering, and much to the delight of the original Post children.

While older members of the family have moved to warmer climates, many of the cousins have remained in the Wayne area and showed up for the golden event, partly because of the importance of this reunion, Simmonds explained.

Simmonds coordinated the agenda for the day, which included a variety of family-oriented games, including the picnic favorite of horseshoes.

To mark this year's auspicious occasion, Simmonds made up a large poster of photographs of family members from years gone by, a montage that proved to be a challenge for family members trying to recall who this one or that one was when they were little. It was, she explained, "the best part of the whole reunion."

There also was corsages and boutonnières for the original Post children, which include sisters Tolice, 84, and Florence, 71, who had not been at a reunion for 10 years.

Belleville readers prove they know a 'good' book

Youngsters in the Belleville community proved they were into books this summer, reading their way through 1,600 assorted titles during the 6-week summer reading program at the Fred C. Fisher Library in Belleville.

The youngsters participated in weekly programs, put on by Kathy Eisele and librarian Pat Klemans, with one goal in mind to earn reading certificates and possibly a blue ribbon.

The program also included a contest in which youngsters tried to guess how many jewels were contained in a bowl on display at the library. Nine-year-old Jessica Frazier came the closest to the amount and won a bowl of goldfish.

The youngsters were awarded certificates based on the number of books they read during the program at a special party held Aug. 14 at the Belleville Fire Station.

Blue ribbon awards for reading more than 30 books went to Aaron Chamberlain, Jenny Chamberlain, Justin Cooke, Matt Elmore, Alyson Folks, Dwayne Folks, Jennifer Frazier, Jessica Frazier, Amy Garascia, Barbara Germain, Robert Germain, Jason Hanna, Jill Harrison, Chrissy Johnson, Jenny Johnson, Cheryl Kennedy, Jennifer Maitland, Bobby Smith, Kendra Smith, Lurah Smith, Robin Straitwell and Rebecca VanVulkenburgh.

Red ribbons for reading 20 to 29 books went to Atif Ali, Allison Eisele, Tony Morecoulis, Kamilah Pickett and Jennifer Schwarz.

White ribbons for reading 10 to 19 books were presented to Daniel Breedlove, Shelly Brown, Terashawn Cundiff, Daniel Durham, Amy Featherengill, Glenda Greer, Timothy Greer, Christina Harman, Brandy Jacobs, Jessica Monte, Derrick Mullins, Lary Mullins, Cindy Samson, Shane Stewart and Heather VanAllen.

Also participating in the program were Marni Borowski, Kerri Breedlove, Bryan Domen, Karen Dugas, Allan Durham, Jason Fields, Andy Frazier, Cindy Gamson, Jason Gasser, Steven Harman, Tracee Harris, Jessalyn Huff, Kori Roberts, Martha Huff, Joshua Kingery, Michael McGuire, Anne Marosi, Catherine Marsh, Joshua Monte, Joel Rieman, Reid Shirley, Wes Slone, Angel Thompson, Daniel Thompson and Jennifer Pompkins.

• Two Belleville residents were honored as top graduates from Wayne County Community College June 9.

The graduate honorees were Dennis Blount and Janice Tatarian.

• Catherine Ristow, the daughter of Mrs. Dolores E. Carmichael of Wayne Road, Romulus, recently received her bachelor of arts degree from Hillsdale College.

A member of Pi Beta Phi sorority and Psi Chi, the psychology honorary, she majored in psychology at the college.

• Among spring degree recipients at Michigan State University in East Lansing were:

BELLEVILLE -- Patrica Bishop, bachelor of science in medical technology; Gerard Evanski, bachelor of music with instrumental honors; and Carol Middlebrooks, bachelor of arts in psychology.

NEW BOSTON-- Christine Pinter, bachelor of science in dietetics.

ROMULUS -- Sheila Johnson, bachelor of arts in materials and logistics management and purchasing management.

• Among outstanding full-time students recognized for their scholarship at Schoolcraft Community College during the 1985 winter semester were Rocco M. Ciaverella of Belleville and Kathryn Allen of Romulus.

They earned a place on the Dean's List by maintaining a 3.5 grade point average or better.

• Beth Thompson of Belleville has been named to the Dean's List for the winter 1985 session at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo.

• Two Belleville residents have been included in the academichonors list for the winter quarter at Ferris State College in Big Rapids.

Maintaining a 3.25 grade point average or better in at least 14 quarter hours of graded work were Sandra Bishop and Catherine Habel.

• Shirley Mae Hansen of Romulus Senior High School and Angela Karafa of Huron High School have been awarded academic scholarships to the Detroit College of Business.

The scholarship, which pays half of their tuition for two years, was awarded based on their grade point average (a minimum 2.7), the high school principal's or counselor's recommendation and enrollment in either a four-year bachelor of business administration degree program or two-year associate of business administration degree program as a full-time day student.

Beyer Memorial honors employees

Seventy-eight employees who logged a total of 625 years of service to Beyer Memorial Hospital were recognized and honored for their efforts at a recent Service Award Dinner sponsored by the Beyer Medical Staff.

The annual event is held to pay tribute to employees who have achieved a milestone in service as employees at the 169-bed hospital in Ypsilanti.

Beyer Administrator Jane G. McCormick handed out awards at the dinner program noting that long-time employees are the backbone of any organization, particularly one as community-centered as Beyer.

"One of Beyer's greatest assets in this community is our reputation of giving patients warmth and personal attention," she noted. "This attitude of service is cultivated by our long-term employees who have made a commitment to this hospital and its mission. They have a real investment in Beyer, and this dedication serves as an example to new employees."

Employees honored for the longest service were Eleanor Bane of Ypsilanti and Theresia Pilch of Saline, both licensed practical nurses from the Beyer delivery room. Recognized for 20 years of service was Caroline Creswell of Ypsilanti, who until recently served as Director of Nursing at Beyer.

Fifteen-year recipients were Elaine Fuller and Dorothy Bailey of Belleville, Helen Brand of Saline and Dorothy Mack of Wayne, all employees of the nursing department. Ypsilanti residents receiving 15-year awards were Kathleen Drexler, dietary; housekeeping employees Laura Jones, Henry Litchford and Leona Moran; and nursing department employee Pauline Wanner.

Among 10-year award recipients were Pamela Cliff of Saline, Carolyn Wiseman of Ann Arbor, Sharon Mena of Westland, Gayla Robinson of Belleville and Frankie Creech of Onsted.

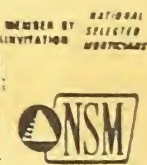

Five-year recipients were Anthony Lewis, Mary Beth Soucie, Lennox Timothy, Shirley Walters, Nicole Black, Margaret Cantrell, Lillian Rose, Verna Bastedo, Barbara Bonk, Carolyn Clark, Carol Humphrey, Marian Lee, Gary Brown, Diane Cook, Monib El-Khatib, Shelby Phillips, Erwin Trozozs, Carla Weathers, Julie Combs, Sheri Holbrook, John Palmer, Edward Pineiro, Priscilla Dew, Patricia Donner, Dena Shepherd, Edith Ander-

Irwin to lead veteran grid team into newly-organized league

Nichole Burchart's 58 earned for her top honors in the 11 and 12 year old bracket.

Pirates rule league

The Tarpons

Rockets face new challenge

perience but we have to play better up front than we did a year ago."

Centering this line is returning starter Paul Pomorski (Sr., 5-11, 220). At the guards will be either Todd Cobb (Sr., 5-10, 200), Tim Hardin (6-0, 203), or Rick McCurdy (Sr., 5-10, 210). The tackle spots are facing a real battle with Matt Bennett (Sr., 6-1, 235), Don Croft (Sr., 6-2, 205), Doug Strehl (Jr., 6-1, 210), and Steve Murray (6-2, 191) all pushing for the positions.

At tight end will be 6-3, 204-pound senior Rick Hassen, with 6-4, 209-pound sophomore Jeff Graham pushing him for the position.

A team that covets any kind of championship needs to have defense and Gordon and his staff feel pretty confident about that part of his team.

"We have size there," Gordon said. "Speed is a key to this unit. We think we're pretty solid there."

The defensive line features the Class of 1986 with Ron Keast (5-6, 154), at the all-important nose guard position (just ask Doug English of the Detroit Lions). Pomorski and Croft will be the tackles with Hassen at one end spot. The other end is still up for grabs between Hardin, Graham, and Dave Boyd (6-0, 181).

The three linebackers, a position Gordon considers a "key to our season," are McCurdy, Hardin and Strehl. "If we get healthy here," said the head coach, "We'll be tough."

The defensive secondary, the last link between the line of scrimmage and the end zone, will be quick and ready for anything.

Todd Quattlander (Sr., 5-10, 155), Bill Grisamer, Dave Byrd, and Chuck Hammontree will be in the backfield and, according to Gordon, "are a coachable group and run well. We think they will be a good group but they need game situations for us to tell."

Junior Tony Svaluto (6-1, 163) and senior Jim Tucker (5-8, 164) will handle the placekicking duties while Hassen will be the punter.

Gordon is assisted by Al Dobrovolec, who coaches the offensive line, defensive ends, center and guards; Jeff Mate, who is the defensive coordinator and coaches the linebackers, and wide receivers; Mike Henry, who is in charge of the defensive line, offensive line, tackles and tight ends, and Mike Leck, an All-League performer last year, who is in charge of the defensive ends, offensive lines, and the scout teams.

Returning for his second year as junior varsity coach is Todd DeLuca, whose 1984 squad posted an 8-0-1 record.

He will be assisted by defensive coordinator Craig Hnatuk and first year assistant Todd Giuliani.

For the first time since 1982, the Rockets elected tri-captains to lead this squad into battle. Tony Boles, Rick McCurdy, and Paul Pomorski were elected by their teammates last spring.

But, as the sign on the locker room walls at John Glenn says, "The difference between good and great is a little extra effort."

The 1985 Rockets have everything to become a "super power."

And only time will prove that statement right or wrong.

WBA crowns baseball champs

point of the game. Then, the Tarpons went to work and before the third out of the inning, they amassed an incredible 17 runs in the last of the fifth inning to subdue their rivals. Some of the big guns for the newly-crowned champs included Larry Myers who went three for four and collected six runs batted in. One of Larry's hits went for the distance.

Brooks Murry laced two singles and a triple as he knocked in three runs. Martin Collyer had a single, double and a triple with one RBI.

Joe Yelinek chipped in with three singles and a triple with one RBI, while teammate Kevin Ramun accounted for a triple and a single and also drove in a run.

The victory also featured the superb pitching of Ray Ziegler who threw three scoreless and hitless innings and fanning seven Spartans. Manager Gene Taylor said that he was pleased with the over-all performance of his team this season.

Wendell Lawson, manager of the Spartans, noted that Ed Malloy and Ronnie Buck had another good game on the base paths during the crucial championship game.

Lawson added that Malloy and Buck have been instrumental in his team's success this season and made a lot of exciting plays happen. The Spartans finished in second place with a respectful 8-4 won-lost record.

Popp is back

Rich Popp, who prepped and starred at Livonia Franklin, will be returning to the helm of the Wayne State University Tartar girl team this fall.

At the helm

Midshipman 3rd Class Leonard Armstrong (center), the son of Leonard and Doreitha Armstrong of Belleville, receives instructions on the ship's helm on the bridge of the guided missile destroyer USS Nicholson. The 1984 graduate of Belleville High School has finished his first year at the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland, and recently spent three weeks training aboard the destroyer in the Caribbean. During the cruise the ship visited the Bahamas, Puerto Rico and U.S. Virgin Island.

699-2714

Can you believe it's time again - when mothers are smiling more and kids are smiling less. That's right; it's going back to school time.

Shopping for school supplies and packing for college is a busy time for everybody, but one that I would like to share.

Going away to school and leaving home for the first time is a milestone in everybody's life and one that should be recorded. So, give me a call if you have a son or daughter, a friends or relative that is leaving town to attend college and let's give them the recognition they deserves.

We have a lot of hardworking and dedicated young people in this community and I would like to hear about them. The number to call is 699-2714.

One of our young people - Samantha Wethrell - the daughter of Sara Ford - is entered in the U.S. Miss Tenn Pageant to be held at Long's Convention Center in Lansing on Sept. 28.

Fourteen-year-old Samantha, a 10th-grade student at Belleville High School, loves music and singing in the choir and her ambition is to become an elementary school teacher.

She is hoping to get sponsors to represent Wayne County in The Michigan Contest.

She will be competing with teen-agers throughout the State of Michigan, with the emphasis on poise and the ability to communicate well.

The winner will receive a $1,000 state scholarship award, and will then represent Michigan at the National Teen Miss Pageant to be held in New York in 1986.

Joyce Tkachuk of Romulus doesn't belong to the jet set, but she sure sets a fast pace.

On the 30th of July, Joyce and her sister Nancy Deshon of Belleville were on their way to Bermuda.

The purpose of the visit was to attend re-enlistment ceremonies for Mrs. Deshon's daughter, Kathleen, who is with the U.S. Navy.

Kathleen has spent four years in the service of her country and will be continuing on as a communications officer for six more.

After sightseeing and visiting, the ladies returned just in time to celebrate Joyce's birthday on Aug. 9.

She was treated to a night out and birthday dinner by son Harry Tkachuk and daughter Shirley Robbins of Belleville.

Sharing the evening were husband Henry and grandchildren Todd and Christopher.

One of the high points of the celebration was congratulations via long distance from son Terry in New York.

This past week Joyce and husband Henry rented a cabin at Central Lake, Mich. Grandchildren Todd and Christopher went along, too, and the family enjoyed fishing, swimming and sightseeing. They did some square dancing and also spent time visiting relatives.

A preliminary meeting of the Belleville Area Historical Society was held Wednesday, Aug. 21, at the Red Apple Restaurant on Main Street, Belleville.

Plans were formulated for the organizational meeting to be held at the same location on Wednesday, Sept. 4. This meeting will be open to the public and interested persons are urged to attend.

Army Private Jeffrey B. Pelc, son of Steve J. and Karen C. Pelc of Hale Creek, Romulus, has completed an equipment storage specialist course at the U.S. Army Quartermaster School, Fort Lee, Va.

The course provided students with a working knowledge of the federal supply system, storage operations and packaging procedures. In addition, they received driving instruction on such materials-handling equipment as conventional and rough terrain forklifts and warehouse tractors.

He is a 1983 graduate of Romulus Senior High School.

Airman 1st Class Troy A. Perrydore, son of Herbert L. and Dorothy L. Perrydore of Ecorse Road, Romulus, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force inventory management course at Lowry Air Force Base, Colo.

During the course, students were taught property accounting, customer support, stock control and equipment management for a base supply system. They also were taught to inventory supplies using electronic data processing machines. The graduates earned credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Perrydore is scheduled to serve with the 3245th Civil Engineering Squadron at Hanscom Air Force Base, Mass.

He is a 1980 graduate of Truman Senior High School, Taylor.

93rd Bombardment Wing.

She is a 1983 graduate of Woodhaven High School, Flat Rock.

Spec. 4 James L. Anderson, son of Frank J. Anderson of South Biggs, Belleville, and Norma M. Blaker of Tecumseh, has completed a U.S. Army primary leadership course at Fort Bragg, N.C.

Students received training in supervisory skills, leadership principles and small unit training techniques essential to a first-line supervisor in a technical or administrative environment.

Anderson is an intelligence analyst with the 82nd Airborne Division.

He is a 1978 graduate of Tecumseh Senior High School.

Airman John B. Johnson, son of Martha M. and John L. Johnson of Loraine, Romulus, has completed Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

The airman, who is remaining at Lackland for specialized training in the security police field, studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Completion of this training earned the individual credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

His wife, Beth, is the daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Ralph R. Farrell of Ball Road, Romulus.

The airman is a 1984 graduate of Saginaw Valley State College, University Center, Mich.

Academy accepts signups

The United States Coast Guard Academy has announced that it is now accepting and processing applications for appointment as cadet, U.S. Coast Guard, Class of 1990.

Applications are being accepted for both men and women.

Appointments as Coast Guard Cadets are tendered solely on the basis of an annual nationwide competition with no congressional appointments or geographical quotas.

Applications for appointment must be submitted to the Director of Admissions, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, prior to Dec. 15, 1985. Candidates must arrange to participate in either the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or American College Testing Assessment (ACT) prior to or including the Dec. 14, 1985, administration for the ACT, and the Dec. 7, 1985, administration for the SAT.

The competition for appointment as cadet is based on the candidate's high school rank, performance on either the SAT or ACT, and leadership potential as demonstrated by participation in high school extracurricular activities, community affairs and/or part-time employment. Most successful candidates rank in the top quarter of their high school class and demonstrate proficiency in both the mathematical and applied science fields.

To qualify for the competition, an applicant must be unmarried at the time of appointment, have no legal obligations resulting from a prior marriage and must have reached the age of 17, but not 22, by July 1, 1986. All applicants must be assured of high school graduation by June 30, 1985. Regulations stipulate that all applicants must have completed three units in English, and three in mathematics to include algebra and plane or coordinate geometry or their equivalents, and must fulfill basic physical requirements.

Coast Guard cadets obtain an undergraduate education at no personal expense. In addition, they receive pay and allowances fully adequate to fulfill their ordinary living expenses. The constantly updated academy curriculum leads to a bachelor of science degree with a strong academic emphasis on engineering and science. The selected major studies, when combined with varied elective courses, establish a solid foundation for a challenging career. Graduates of the academy are awarded a bachelor of science degree and are commissioned as ensigns in the United States Coast Guard.

Selected officers may pursue further postgraduate education and specialized training at many leading civilian and military graduate or professional schools, in such fields as aviation, business administration, electronics, engineering, law and oceanography.

The young academy graduate can look forward to a varied and demanding career as a regular Coast Guard Officer. The Coast Guard performs essential humanitarian missions vital to the safety and saving of lives at sea. Under the Department of Transportation, the Coast Guard establishes and coordinates search and rescue operations by ship and plane, maintains advanced electronic and other aids to navigation scattered around the globe, operates the icebreakers which clear the way for all polar expeditions and enforces marine law and all aspects of merchant marine safety. In addition, the Coast Guard has responsibility for boating safety and marine environmental protection.

BAD HABITS By Dave Barry Doubleday

If you don't like humor (both tasteful and...), then this isn't the book for you. It's that simple; if you want to go around moping all of the time, stay away from "Bad Habits" by Dave Barry at all costs.

If, on the other hand, you're among the large majority of us who not only enjoy a good belly-laugh once in awhile, but looks at books ...by steve o'leary actually seek them out, then you'll thoroughly enjoy this book, subtitled "A 100 % Fact Free Book."

Barry, an underrated syndicated columnist who excels in his own barbed wit, takes everyday circumstances and views them from a slightly weird angle, and then writes about it. After all, what can you say about someone who dedicates his book "To Mom and Dad, who never forced me to go see Santa Claus."

Compiled from many columns, each section is made up of short pieces, so it's possible to pick up the book, get a giggle, and still make it to work on time. If you don't get stopped by a train. Or by a traffic light. You get the idea I think; once you start, you don't want to stop!

Good humor is hard to put across on paper, but Barry handles it fine. For instance, in one section titled "The Problem With Pets," Barry mentions that his first pet was an ant and an ant farm. "The ironic thing was, our house was already overrun with ants, and my mom had to send away to Chicago for these." He postulates that ants or any insect "make lousy pets."

"Bad Habits" by Dave Barry is an excellent book by a really energetic funny guy. If the word "hip" were still used in this part of the galaxy, this book would fit the bill. Erma Bombeck, eat your heart out!

"Bad Habits" is available at Waldenbooks, newly-located inside Westland Mall.

Local musicians produce benefit record

A group known as "United For Detroit" has recorded a song called "United We Stand" to benefit the hungry in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw counties, much as "USA For Africa" did for the hungry in Ethiopia.

Organized by Edd Samuels, manager of the local country act "Denny Armstrong and Cane Creek", the song was written by Denny Armstrong and Jack Mollette, and was produced by Mollette.

The record, which was recorded at disc limited in East Detroit includes many prominent local country artists, for instance, Mollette, Bubba Franks, David Stringer, Mike Powell, Danny Dunn, Roy Hall, Denny Armstrong, Joe Prather, Chet Williams and Sally Mollette. Steve McCain, Paul Webb, Joy Fleming, Larry Lee Adkins, Patti Jeup, Diane Fisher Tracey Lynne, Greg Arledge, Lewis Patrick, Keith Lawrence, Marsha Dee, Bob Sanderson, Debbie Tucker, Mike Ross, Jerry Tittle, Mark Cornell, Steve David, Wally Jackson, Shelly Lyons, Judi Reynolds, Carmen Janseen, Ron Cote, Sky Alexander and Russ Gregory as disc jockeys and station managers from WCXI, WWW and WSDS radio stations.

A well known celebrity known to all as Thomas "Hit Man" Hearn also added some vocals to the recording.

The record will be released to the public by Aug. 30 and will be available at most local record stores. A video of this event has also been filmed by Continental Cablevision for local viewing.

Groundbreaking . . . Credit Union begins new building

The Eloise Credit Union will mark the beginning of the new year in 1986 with a brand new building. After more than 37 years in the brightly painted and cheerful facility they have occupied off one of the wards in the former Wayne County General Hospital, employees and administrators of the credit union will move to a brand new building at 31100 Palmer Road in Westland.

According to Barbara Blakeley who has been an employee at the credit union for more than 25 years, the new facility will be welcome, although the present facility has served the 4,500 members well during the years. "The plans are to continue to serve our members the best way we can," she said. "We'll be able to provide added services, like a drive-in window and other more convenient services, so I guess it's time for a new building," she commented.

The new facility has been in the planning for six months, and the $7.3 million operation will continue to provide credit union services to the health department employees of the Westland Medical Center which was formerly Wayne County General Hospital. The new building will mark an adventure for the credit union, which has always been located on the hospital grounds.

The groundbreaking ceremonies last week were special for a number of reasons, Blakeley explained, but of particular note was the presence of two original members of the credit union, Booker Dozier and Joseph Burgess. "They both came to the groundbreaking for the new building which was really special," Blakeley noted.

Perhaps they'll be first in line to use the new building, too.

It was a special day for members of the Eloise Credit Union when the first shovel of dirt was tossed, marking the breaking of ground for the new building for the facility which has served members of the health department at Westland Medical Center for more than 37 years. On hand (from left) were Booker Dozier, an original member who aided in the start of the credit union, Westland Mayor Charles Pickering, President Martin Flemming, Manager Frank Murray and Clare Kamstra of the Michigan Credit Union League.

Promoting a healthier and happier life style is the aim behind one of Inkster's newest businesses, Nutri-Con Health Center, 327 Inkster Road, Cherry Hill Plaza Annex. Proprietor Faith Meadows believes the key to happiness is a healthy balance of body and mind. The shop carries all-natural organically grown food items and vitamins, herbal teas and natural juices. Nutri-Con also has some hard to find items like Aloe Vera plants and natural herbal cosmetics and skin care products. Along with items that promote good physical health, they carry religious books and music for the spirit. Speaking of music, lessons in piano, organ and guitar are available at the store. The instructor is Bienbill Jones. Nutri-Con Herbal Center - 274-7510.

Speaking of good health . . . we sure hope John Oller, owner of Jonimo's Hobby Shop finds it soon. Get well real fast now, John.

Atchinson Ford, 9800 Belleville Road in Belleville is proud to announce the addition of Carrie Daman to their sales staff. Carrie has lived and worked in the Ypsilanti-Ann Arbor area for many years, including the Ypsilanti Auto Club and Kelly Services. She would like to invite all her friends and associates to contact her for any of their future auto needs.

Larger-sized ladies, look no further. Fashion Bug Plus has the styles and sizes you're looking for. Fashion Bug Plus, a large national speciality chain store, recently opened in the Harvard Square Shopping Center in Canton. Their stylish sizes range from 14 1/2 to 24 1/2. Store manager, Cheryl Hendlmeyer, hopes more ladies will stop and discover the affordable prices and helpful service.

Pet owners get set. The re-grand opening celebration at Westland Dog Food remodeled store on Ford Road, Westland is scheduled for Sept. 6, 7 and 8. Check today's paper for a few of the dog-gone good deals on pet supplies.

Open For Business will be closed next week so I can go fishing and enjoy all that good vacation stuff up north. See you on the 11th!

DEAR INVESTOR, IN MY OPINION:

For many months, the Fed has been increasing the money supply (M-1) in an attempt to increase economic activity.

In recent comments, Paul Volcker, Federal Reserve Chairman, seemed surprised that the rapid growth of money supply has had little economic impact. He did caution that if second half activity were to exceed expected growth rate, the Fed may tighten monetary policy.

I assume Mr. Volcker is concerned about an annual growth rate above 4.9%; which may be difficult to reach. The velocity of money continues to slow, and average bank deposits to grow. Inventory levels are low, and there seems to be little enthusiasm for anticipatory stocking levels. It would appear the nation's economy, and the stock market, are in a consolidation phase. Neither are very anxious to move until a clearer direction is seen. With the velocity of money slowing and cash reserves growing, only two courses of action seem appropriate; increased purchases or paydown debt.

If a paydown of debt is the course of action, bank reserves will increase and interest rates will decline. For this week, interest rates will be flat, with a slight downward bias, which will add some strength and stability to bonds and interest sensitive issues. Gold and silver are still attracting speculators, but to a lesser degree; profit taking will hold prices down.

For this week, short-term traders seem evenly divided on the action to take. Intermediate term traders are developing a slight downward bias. Long term traders are looking for bargains to buy with strong fundamentals or undervalued assets.

OPINION FOR AUGUST 25, 1985

NOTE: Housing starts declined 2.4 percent, operating rate was 80.8 percent at factories, mines, and utilities, personal income and consumer spending rose .4 percent, and durable goods orders fell a large 2.8 percent in July; six big retailers post poor earnings; and the economy grew at a 2 percent annual rate last quarter causing after-tax corporate profits to fall at a .2 percent pace.

Carrol Peterson
- Bernie Solo Jr.

Peterson-Solo

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Solo of Romulus have announced the engagement of their son, Bernie Jr., to Carrol B. Peterson, the daughter of Gary and Barbara Peterson, also of Romulus.

The bride-elect is a 1981 graduate of Romulus High School. She currently is finishing work on a degree in industrial and systems engineering at the University of Michigan-Dearborn and is employed by Electronic Data Systems.

Her fiancé, also a 1981 graduate of Romulus High School, is completing work on a degree in graphic communications from the College of Art and Design at the Center for Creative Studies. He is employed by McLean and Friends as an advertising illustrator.

An August 1986 wedding is being planned.

Margaret MacDonald
- Gregory Blackburn

MacDonald-Blackburn

A May 10, 1986, wedding date has been set by Margaret Ellen MacDonald of Wayne and Gregory E. Blackburn of Ypsilanti.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Angus and Mary Ann MacDonald of Wayne. A 1976 graduate of Wayne Memorial High School, she received her bachelor of science degree in elementary education from Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti in 1981. She currently is employed by Spring Arbor Distributors in Belleville.

Her fiancé is the son of Robert and Janet Blackburn of Ypsilanti. A 1979 graduate of Ypsilanti High School, he received his associate's degree in management from Washtenaw Community College in 1981. He also is employed by Spring Arbor Distributors in Belleville.

What's light?
High in protein?
Low in calories?
Has just three ingredients?
Is Michigan grown?
Extremely versatile?
TOFU! (Pronounced toe-foooo).

Tofu is processed soybean curd.

The process begins on an organic Michigan farm where soybeans are raised by the millions. The soybeans, when harvested, are shipped to manufacturing plants similar to the SOYPLANT in Ann Arbor. This writer recently visited the soyplant and learned to love this quasi-exotic, somewhat tasteless product.

When the soybeans arrive at the plant, they are cleaned, sorted, rinsed and parboiled to remove some of the tough skin and impurities. They are then ground into a paste and processed in water and nigari (a seaweed/seawater extract) while being compressed into large "cakes."

The cakes are then cut into one-pound squares and are packed in a "cottage-cheese type" container and covered with nigari, dated for sale and shipped to your favorite supermarket.

You can find tofu in most major supermarkets in the produce department. The only major chain in the Detroit metro-west area not stocking tofu is Danny's. You can find tofu available at all Farmer Jacks, A&P, Great Scott, Pak n' Save and at all health food stores. It retails for about $1.09 per pound, so as a protein source, it is much cheaper than any meat, fish or produce.

Tofu is very high in protein. It can stand on its own as a source (see my recipe for missing egg salad) or can be used as a meatless extender for casseroles, sandwiches, etc. (see the recipe for tofu lasagne). Tofu is cholesterol free and is very low in calories, fat and sodium. One four-ounce serving contains only 75 calories and has 8 mg sodium with less than 5 percent fat by weight. Nutritionists recommend tofu for diabetics, cardiac patients and anyone who wishes to restrict their intake of fat and sodium.

Tofu has very little taste and easily adapts to just about any recipe. It readily absorbs seasonings and with the correct touch, can serve as a tasty substitute for just about anything.

So you think your family will pass you off as a wacko predecessor of Richard Simmons when you make the stuff? Hardly!

Don't try to "blow the family away" by serving it direct at first. Try substituting tofu for half the ground beef in a recipe. It makes an excellent replacement for ricotta and cottage cheese and can be blended into dips easily.

To store the tofu, keep it covered with water and store it in your refrigerator. Every few days, replace the water with fresh water and tofu will stay fresh for a week past the date stamped on the package.

Try it and tell me what you think. Your comments are always welcome.

HOMEMADE TOFU "ICE CREAM"

- 1 pound tofu
- 3 cups strawberries, frozen, unsweetened
- 1/4 cup honey

Combine all ingredients in a food processor and process until smooth. (About one minute). Chef's note: Excellent source of "ice cream" for lactose intolerant and diabetic persons! Low-cal, too!

TOFU LASAGNE

- 1 pound lasagne noodles, cooked, drained
- 2 cups cottage cheese
- 3 eggs
- 4 cups mozzarella cheese, shredded
- 1 pound tofu, rinsed and drained
- 1 small can tomato paste
- 1 large can tomato sauce
- 1 teaspoon basil
- 1 teaspoon oregano
- 1 large clove garlic, smashed

Combine cottage cheese with eggs and mashed tofu. Mix well. Set aside. Combine tomato sauce and paste with herbs and garlic. In a 9 x 12 cake pan or casserole, place a layer of noodles. Top with a layer of cottage cheese, egg and tofu mixture. Top with tomato sauce then tip with shredded cheese. Repeat these layers three or four times until all are used. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour, turn off oven and let stand for 30 minutes before serving. Enjoy! Easily serves six with leftovers.

- ### MISSING EGG SALAD
- 1 pound tofu, drained, mashed
 - 1/4 cup mayonnaise
 - 1 tablespoon prepared yellow mustard
 - 1 teaspoon tumeric (for color, not taste)
 - 3 tablespoons onion, chopped fine
 - 3 tablespoons celery, chopped fine

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Place in refrigerator for at least two hours to blend the flavors. You can add chopped olives, curry or other favorites, if desired.

DILL PARTY DIP

- In a blender combine:
- 1 pound tofu, rinsed, drained, chunked
 - 1 teaspoon dry mustard
 - 1 tablespoon dill weed
 - 1/2 cup oil
 - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 - 2 tablespoons chopped onion
 - 1 small clove garlic
 - 2 tablespoons soy sauce

If needed to blend smoothly, add a small amount of milk. Blend until smooth. Variations: Omit dill and stir in crumbled bleu cheese, onion soup mix, Italian herbs or other seasonings. Serve with crackers or raw vegetables. Add a little more milk to thin for a great salad dressing, too!

Diet Pill Sweeping U.S.

New Super "Dream Pill" Lose Weight As You Sleep!

No Dieting — Eat All You Want

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. — An amazing new super "dream pill" has recently been developed and perfected that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose up to 10 pounds in 10 days. Best of all, it allows you to "eat as much as you want of your favorite foods and still lose a pound a day or more starting from the very first day until you achieve your ideal weight and figure."

This remarkable new diet pill combines two natural substances which cause adults to lose weight fast by "tricking" the body into acting like a teenager. These nutritional substances, called L-arginine and L-ornithine, stimulate the body's production of growth hormone. Dr. Robert Harris, a specialist in nutritional medicine in Stafford Springs, Connecticut, was recently quoted as explaining: "Growth Hormone may be what's responsible for allowing teenagers to down thousands of calories in hamburgers and other foods and still be thin as a rail."

"Growth Hormone is present in people up through the teenage years, then slowly diminishes with age. But L-arginine and L-ornithine make the body 'think' it belongs to a teenager again, allowing adults to eat as much as they want — and still be thin and wiry."

"Pill Does All The Work"

According to the manufacturer, "the pill itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation 'diet menus' to follow, NO calorie counting, NO exercise and NO hunger pangs." The pill is not a drug! It is 100% safe consisting of natural amino acids just like those found in the foods you eat everyday.

Life Extension Authors Confirm Results

Durk Pearson and Sandy Shaw, graduates of MIT and UCLA respectively, introduced these miracle substances to the public in their runaway best selling book, Life Extension. They discovered the weight-loss effects by accident. Sandy fell and broke her foot and started taking L-arginine because of its well-known healing qualities. Much to her amazement Sandy lost 25 pounds of fat and put on 5 pounds of firm-toned muscle in six weeks. According to Durk's calculations, the pill caused Sandy to lose 400 times as much fat as she would otherwise have lost — without dieting!

Lose Weight While You Sleep

One beautiful thing about these miracle pills is the ease with which they work. You don't have to count calories and you don't have to follow special diets or eat special foods. You don't even have to exercise. The best time to take the pills is just before you go to bed at night. That way, the pounds melt away even as you sleep. You wake up every morning, slimmer, happier and feeling younger!

The super dream pill is already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Extraordinary Guarantee

Place your order now. If you are not completely satisfied with the thinner "new you" simply return the empty container for a full refund of your entire purchase price. No questions asked. Now what could be fairer than that?

You can order your supply of these remarkable pills by sending $19.95 for a 30 day supply (or $34.95 for a 60 day supply) cash, check or money order to: Life Cycle, 17300 17th St., Suite J-111, Dept. 15, Tustin, CA 92680.

To order by phone simply call Life Cycle TOLL FREE (1-800-453-4903), and use your VISA or MasterCard. Operators are standing by 24 hours a day, seven days a week. If you don't have a VISA or MasterCard, Life Cycle will also accept C.O.D. orders right over the phone! But please don't wait. Order today. You won't risk a thing. Either you get a slender new you — or you get a full refund of your purchase price.

Township, to serve as her maid of honor. She wore a cobalt blue tea-length satin dress, with matching hat and shoes and carried an ivory basket filled with blue and ivory silk flowers.

Serving as bridesmaids were Lori McLaughlin of Garden City, a friend of the bride, Sharon Fleming of Dearborn, the bride's sister-in-law, Nancy Fleming of Belleville, the bride's sister-in-law, and Margaret Morgan of Dearborn, the groom's sister.

They also wore cobalt blue satin tea-length dresses with baby's breath accents in their hair and carried ivory baskets filled with blue and ivory silk flowers.

The groom asked Phillip Morgan of Dearborn, his brother, to perform the duties of best man. The groomsmen were his brothers Patrick of Dearborn and Thomas of Denver, Colorado, and friends Duane Willson of Wyandotte and Joe O'Brien of Chicago, Illinois.

Serving as ushers were the bride's brothers, Robert of Dearborn and Daniel of Belleville.

Mrs. Fleming chose a light gray chiffon tea-length dress with pearl collar and belt for her daughter's wedding.

A dinner reception for the newlyweds and 170 guests was held at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport Holiday Inn in Romulus, with a champagne fountain provided throughout the evening and a surprise cheese display, saying "Congratulations, Rick and Rayleen." The rehearsal dinner was held at the Livonia Holiday Inn.

The couple honeymooned for a weekend at the Farmington Hills Holiday Inn before moving into their new home in Wayne.

The new Mrs. Morgan has been employed by the Holiday Inn Inc. for 9 years and has been the food and beverage director at the Livonia Holiday Inn for 3 years.

Her husband is as an industrial roofer with the Schriber Corporation and has worked as a musician for the last 13 years. He is employed at Crabby Joe's of Dearborn.

There's a world of difference between learning and loving to learn.

That's the Children's World child care difference.

Learning is a roomful of energetic preschoolers trying to sit quietly while a teacher recites a pre-planned lesson from a standardized manual.

Loving to learn is that same group of children exploring the wonders of the world with a teacher who makes the process of learning as fresh and exciting as the lesson itself.

That's the Children's World Concept. And the Children's World difference your child deserves.

The Children's World Concept: A child taught with love loves to learn.

Our teachers teach from the heart to open the mind. They're free to create activities which spark each child's natural eagerness to learn at his own pace. Your child will gain confidence and welcome new experiences.

In short, your child will learn the joys of learning at Children's World. And that's a lesson that will last a lifetime.

Come see our world of difference.

The best way to understand the Children's World Concept is to see it in action. Visit your neighborhood Children's World, and discover the difference our loving care can make.

Check the Yellow Pages for the Children's World in your neighborhood.

An Inviting Offer from Children's World

You're invited to try Children's World for one week, absolutely free.

WHERE: Your neighborhood Children's World.

Take a tour...in 'Little Town'

By SUE McDONALD
ANP Editor

Every town has a ice cream parlor, dress shop, bakery, even a sporting goods store. And so will "Little Town."

The miniature community is the brainchild of the Wayne Merchants Association and Dorothy Siano of Country Mouse Miniatures, who has organized more than 40 displays, ranging from room boxes to doll houses to vignettes, that will be placed in businesses throughout the community Aug. 29 through Sept. 8 as part of the annual Wayne Old-Fashioned Homecoming Festival Sept. 5-8.

The idea of "Little Town" is to introduce visitors and to reintroduce residents to what businesses are located in the community, but there's also a fun side to the tour.

The group has prepared 22 questions about the miniatures, which can only be answered if all 44 displays are viewed. Each correctly answered question will be worth $10 in Wayne Merchants Association "funny money" that can be redeemed for goods at participating businesses.

The tour isn't designed to be a shopping trip through the city, more like a scavenger hunt. Participants aren't required to buy anything to enter the contest, just visit each and every display and answer the appropriate question.

Detroit Edison has also contributed $100 in "funny money" that will be given to the creator of the most popular miniature. The winner will be determined by which display collects the most 5-cent votes. The money raised will be donated to the Wayne Parks and Recreation Department.

Siano has been given the task of gathering the various displays and is trying to make the second annual tour "much more fun" than last year.

"It (the tour) will cover everything imaginable," she explained. "People are coming from all over with entries... Belleville, Livonia, Plymouth, Detroit, Wyandotte."

Some of the displays are repeats by request from last year, but a majority of the displays are new, she added.

"We're trying to give an identity to Wayne, so people say 'yeah, Wayne has that miniature display each year,'" she explained. "We got visible results last year. We saw people walking around the town with papers in their hand and we knew why they were here."

Linda Palmerter's Victorian Christmas scene is a repeat from last year, but she admits that while it was completed for the first tour, she's still making additions to it like another string of lights on the Christmas tree.

The miniature is framed by a Christmas wreath and has a little girl opening presents in front of a fireplace. There's also the traditional Christmas tree and a staircase, plus plenty of presents.

Palmerter, a resident of Belleville, got hooked on miniatures when she stopped in Siano's shop several years ago and "flipped over the things she had there." She's been concentrating on miniature scenes, although she would like to tackle a dollhouse some day.

Daniel and Nettus Osborne of Wayne will have three room boxes in the tour. His entry will be a sports shop, with equipment from every sport imaginable, while her two entries will be an ice cream parlor and a country store from the pre-1930s done in a lamp.

The couple took up miniatures when they were expecting their second child. They wanted a hobby they could do together and discovered just the right hobby when they wandered into the Country Mouse during Wayne's Sidewalk Sales last year.

They've done four miniatures so far and are working, on and off, on a Victorian dollhouse, which Osborne calls their "major project."

He decided on the sports shop for the tour after visiting such a shop in the city and admits the entry is a "rush job" for the "Little House" tour, taking eight to 10 weeks to complete.

The couple also are considering new endeavors... his a workshop and hers a women's dress shop with frilly dresses as well as a selection for Christmas gift giving.

Linda Plameter made her Christmas wreath miniature display last year, but admits she's still working on it... like adding another string of light to the Christmas tree. The Belleville resident is among miniature enthusiasts participating in the Wayne Merchants Association "Little House" Tour this month.

Daniel and Nettus Osborne of Wayne took up the hobby of miniatures when they were expecting their second child and will have three entries in the "Little House" Tour—his sports shop and her pre-1930's grocery store scene inside a lamp and an old-fashioned ice cream parlor.

National association praises county health care plan

Wayne County's Patient Care Management System, the program designed and promoted by Wayne County Executive William Lucas to provide emergency indigent medical care, has received high honors from the Washington-based National Association of Counties.

Lucas' early proposal to replace the costly Resident County Hospitalization (RCH) program with the Patient Care Management System (PCMS) originally recognized as a prototype health care plan nationwide.

PCMS received the association's County Achievement Award, in recognition of "... distinguished and continuing contributions to the cause of strong and efficient county government in America."

Lucas developed the program in response to the dramatically rising emergency medical costs for indigent patients. Costs jumped from $10 million to $22.5 million between 1980 and 1982, were expected to top $34 million in 1983 and were projected at $42 million in 1984, fully one-third of the county's annual tax base.

Lucas, who took office in 1983, was faced with an operating deficit of more than $130 million, largely attributable to rapidly escalating medical costs. More than 80 percent of the care was delivered in the county's five highest-cost hospitals.

The new PCMS management focuses carefully on patient flow, reducing overall expense through the use of lower cost alternative facilities and preventive medicine. Eligibility standards are now reasonably, but firmly, enforced.

Lucas has signed contracts with two tertiary and six community-based hospitals and letters of understanding exist with six more. Two of these facilities feature "step-down" units to specifically deal with the problems of substance abuse.

"Even when a patient enters a high-cost facility, we have transfer protocols, once his or her condition has stabilized," Lucas said. "Today, our indigent patients still receive top-quality medical care, in lower cost facilities, closer to home."

"We also are now offering substance abusers a rehabilitation program — an opportunity to end that deadly and expensive cycle of abuse, hospitalization, recovery, abuse, et cetera."

The new system is less costly to Wayne County taxpayers by a wide margin. Of the $32 million cost for fiscal year 1984/85, Wayne County pays only $3.9 million, an amount roughly equivalent to that spent by other counties throughout the state for indigent care.

Philip B. Elfstrom, president of the National Association of Counties, said: "The Achievement Award program recognizes attempts by counties to find innovative and cost effective ways to improve management, organization and service delivery of county government."

Hospitals participating in Wayne County's award-winning program are Northeast General, Kirwood General, Milton Community, Saratoga, Southwest Detroit, Detroit Memorial, Brent General, Holy Cross, Detroit Receiving and University Health Center, Mt. Carmel Mercy, Henry Ford, Westland Medical, St. John and Samaritan Health Center.

Award winner

Federal-Mogul Corporation's Precision Forged Products Division of Romulus received the grand prize in the fully dense category of the 1985 Powder Metallurgy (P/M) Part-of-the-Year Design Competition. The award was given for a high strength forged alloy steel inner cam/race made for the Spring/Brummer Division of Borg-Warner Cor, Bellwood, Illinois. William Fugate (right) general manager of the division, accepted the award at a special luncheon held during the 1985 Annual P/M Conference and Exhibition in San Francisco, California, from Tom Sullivan of MPIF's Public Relations Council. The part is the central member in an automotive automatic transmission torque converter centrifugal lock-up clutch. The competition is sponsored each year by the Metal Powder Industries Federation, trade association for the international metal powder producing and consuming industries.

Willet appointed to business panel

David Willett, president and publisher of Associated Newspapers, Inc., of Wayne, has been elected to the Board of Directors of the Small Business Association of Michigan for the 1985-1986 program year.

Willet was chosen by association members during their 15th annual membership meeting, held July 25 at Hilton Shanty Creek in Bellaire.

"As a successful, experienced small business owner, Dave Willett is a valuable advocate for small business in Michigan," said John Galles, executive director of SBAM. "He will be able to contribute significantly to the association's efforts to reduce business costs and make the state more competitive for small firms."

Willet is beginning his third year on the association's Board of Directors and was a member of the Michigan delegation to the 1980 White House Conference on Small Business. He also served on the Executive Council of the 1981 Michigan Conference on Small Business.

Willet has been active in the Wayne Jaycees and is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary. He has been a member of the Governor's Advisory Board on Small Business and is a member of the Michigan Press Association and the Detroit Press Club.

A member-directed non-profit organization, SBAM is the primary advocate for small business in Michigan and includes more than 2,500 member firms statewide. The association places a major emphasis on sponsoring and supporting state and federal legislation aimed at improving the economic climate for small business.

Hospital seeks 'loaners'

The University of Michigan Hospitals audiology clinic is asking for donations of used hearing aids to loan patients who are awaiting delivery of their own devices.

"We are especially concerned about children," said Constance Spak, acting director of the clinic. "They have an immediate need, but they may have to wait several months to get a hearing aid."

State and local programs pay for hearing aids for children whose parents cannot afford the devices, Spak explained, but the process to determine need and eligibility for the programs takes an average of four to six months.

"We stress early detection of hearing problems in children," Spak said, "but we need also to be able to do something about those problems right away. Children can fall quite far behind in their speech and language development in a few months."

A "loaner" hearing aid would allow the child to continue normal development while awaiting for their own hearing aid, said Spak.

The loaner program would also benefit adults who had suffered a loss of hearing because of accident or illness, Spak added. A personal hearing aid requires three to four weeks for delivery once ordered because it is custom fitted to the patient to prevent irritation over a long period of use.

"We have a supply of ear molds and can make a suitable fit for short term use," Spak said. "So an adult who orders a hearing aid can also use a loaner and begin occupational therapy without having to wait."

Spak added that persons who donate used hearing aids to the clinic may also be able to deduct the value of the hearing aid on their income tax as a charitable donation.

Persons wishing to donate hearing aids may contact Spak at the U-M Hospitals audiology clinic, 763-1470.
